

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

He was shot by cupid's arrow!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How important is Valentine's Day in your country?
- Does your culture embrace physical contact or do most people prefer more physical space?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about manners, customs, and cultural items.
- I can talk about things I am supposed to do and things that are supposed to happen.
- I can express suggestions, necessity, and possibility.

Let's Explore!

Bethnal Green* on Valentine's Day?

* "Bethnal Green" is an area in London that used to be poor but has become trendy.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Hey V. I am thinking about visiting my cousin in England, but I'll have to save some money first.
- Vanessa: Oh great! You should try to find cheap accommodations. England is expensive!
- Peter: I might stay with my cousin who has an apartment in a place called Bethnal Green.
- Vanessa: That's supposed to be a hip neighborhood these days! You could go to Brick Lane where there are lots of authentic Indian restaurants!
- Peter: People in England are supposed to be very polite, aren't they?
- Vanessa: Not necessarily, but there are some things you might want to know. For example, when you take an escalator you are supposed to stand right, walk left.
- Peter: Really ... ?
- Vanessa: You mustn't jump the queue.
- Peter: The 'queue'?
- Vanessa: That means 'the line'. Also if you are there in February for Valentine's Day you must be prepared. It's very seriously celebrated.
- Peter: That won't make a difference to me.
- Vanessa: The last Valentine's I was there, things got really chaotic. Every girl felt like she was supposed to get a red rose from someone.
- Peter: When you meet someone are you supposed to shake their hand?
- Vanessa: Yes, but mostly people just greet each other without physical contact. On Valentine's Day, however, there may be more public displays of affection than usual!
- Peter: Let's drop the subject of Valentine's Day.

Let's Practice!

What are English customs supposed to be?

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Write the sentences in the correct order.

1. are / Valentine's / On / girls / roses. / red / to / give / Day, / supposed / boys

2. be / supposed / to / not / people / impolite. / are / English

3. are / certain / to / be / manners. / used / with / supposed / Escalators

4. to / are / contact / when / they / meet. / People / physical / supposed / not / have

5. supposed / money. / to / have / saved / enough / am / I

Let's Practice!

What are proper English customs?

Instructions: Read the dialogue again. Select all the true statements. Practice saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. It is polite to jump the queue.
2. In England everyone is polite.
3. Valentine's Day is a very important day.
4. There are some rules to take the escalator.
5. People do not usually touch when they meet.

Extension Activity

Describe your ideal Valentine's Day.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Discuss your idea of romance with a friend.
- Explain what you think people are supposed to do on Valentine's Day.
- Explain other things you think people might or should consider doing on Valentine's Day.
- Write a paragraph to say what your ideal Valentine's Day would be.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about manners and customs on Valentine's Day.

☐ ☐

I talk about things that are supposed to happen on Valentine's Day.

☐ ☐

I express suggestions, possibility and necessity of doing things on Valentine's Day.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- escalator (noun): a moving staircase e.g. When you take an escalator you are supposed to stand right, walk left.
- queue (noun): a line of people or cars waiting e.g. You mustn't jump the queue.
- public displays of affection (noun): physical affection shown in front of others
e.g. There may be more public displays of affection than usual!
- to drop the subject (verb): to stop talking about a particular subject e.g. Let's drop the subject of Valentine's Day.
- to jump the queue (verb): to push in the queue to steal somebody else's turn e.g. Jumping the queue is disrespectful.
- physical contact (noun): the act of touching someone else physically
e.g. People just greet each other without physical contact.

Learning Points

To Be Supposed To

You use the structure to be supposed to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements.

You can use to be supposed to to talk about situations in the past, present or future.

The structure is:

Subject + to be + supposed to + verb

When you take an escalator you are supposed to stand right, walk left.

Pronunciation tip

When you say be supposed to, you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together.

Like this:

Be suppose_to

Examples:

- That's supposed to be a hip neighborhood these days!
- Every girl felt like she was supposed to get a red rose from someone.
- People in England are supposed to be very polite.
- When you take an escalator you are supposed to stand right, walk left.
- When you meet someone are you supposed to shake their hand?

Learning Points

Modals For Suggestion, Necessity and Possibility

Modals are auxiliary verbs used to make suggestions, express necessity or show possibility. In the simple present you need a modal plus the base form of the main verb.

Modals of Suggestion

Should	You should try to find cheap accommodations.
Ought to	You ought to find a cheap hotel.
Could	You couldn't try to find cheap accommodations.

Modals of Necessity

Must	You mustn't jump the queue.
Had better	You had better not jump the queue.
Have to	You have to wait in a queue.

Modals of Possibility

May	There may be more public displays of affection than usual!
Might	You might see people kissing!
Could	You could go to Brick Lane.

Things to remember:

- You do not use ought to in the negative form!
- When you use could in the negative form, it changes its function from suggestion to impossibility.
- The meaning of have to changes if it is negative. Don't have to means that it is not necessary.

