

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Describe events past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever received or given a surprise gift? Explain.
- Is it better to be single or in a relationship? What are the advantages of both?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about clothing, socializing, feelings and reactions.
- I can express suggestions necessity, and possibility.
- I can encourage agreement.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa, Sally and Peter show affection for each other!

* To "show affection" means to reveal that you care about someone.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Hey Vanessa, listen up! I got Peter season's tickets to see the Celtics!
- Vanessa: How did that come about?! You must be in love!
- Sally: Wouldn't it be great if we could find someone for you?
- Vanessa: Forget about me! Don't you think we should ask Peter about his date?
- Sally: No way! He'll get so worked up if we do.
- Peter: Hey ladies! Isn't it a wonderfully beautiful day?
- Peter: Didn't you guys watch last night's game?
- Vanessa: I did. It was a great game. Correct me if I'm wrong. Didn't you go on a date?
- Sally: Maybe we should drop the subject before anyone gets immensely uncomfortable. We have to respect Peter's boundaries.
- Vanessa: You're supposed to be the one asking these questions Sally! Lighten up a little.
- Peter: Okay everyone, calm down. We might want to relax and enjoy our evening together.
- Sally: Peter, I have something for you. Here.
- Peter: Sally. You shouldn't have!
- Sally: Are you hugging me? Wow! Okay, I'm totally taken aback!
- Vanessa: Public displays of affection! Surprise gifts! It's not even Christmas. What happened to you two? Well, I have a little something for the two of you. Celtics jerseys! Thank you!
- Sally: You are the best! Let's root for V! This has turned into a great evening!
- Peter: You are the best! Let's root for V! This has turned into a great evening!
- Vanessa: Now tell me what your plans are for Valentine's Day.

Let's Practice!

Let's review some vocabulary.

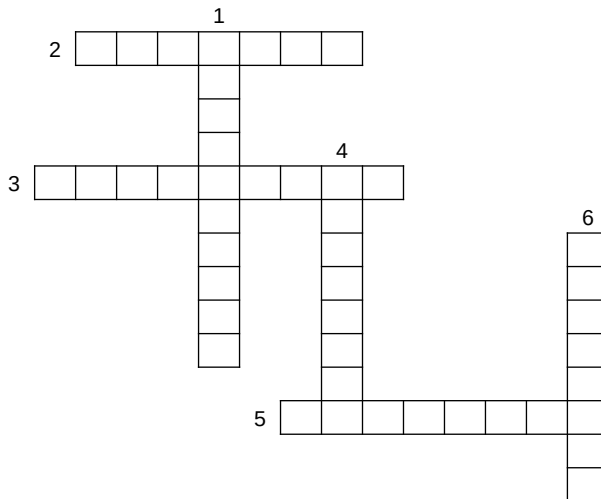

Instructions: Read the clues. Complete the crossword.

Down

1. to be surprised by something unexpected
4. to listen carefully
6. to calm, to relax

Across

2. to encourage
3. to a great extent
5. to change

Let's Practice!

Peter, Sally, and Vanessa discuss last night.

Instructions: Proofread the sentence. Click on the incorrect word. Cross out the incorrect word(s). Write the correct word(s) to complete the sentence. Use capital letters where necessary. Practice saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. We kould find someone for you.

2. Don't you think we shuld asq Peter about his date?

3. Maybe we wood droep the subject before anyone gets immensely uncomfortable.

4. We haf two respect Peter's boundaries.

5. We mait want to relax and enjoy our evening together.

Extension Activity

Write a story about falling in love.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Tell a friend a story about two people you know who met and fell in love (your parents, aunt and uncle, friends etc.).
- Describe each person and explain how they met. (Use phrasal verbs if possible.)
- Write their story.
- Read your story aloud to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I describe people.

☐
☐

I write a story about falling in love.

☐
☐

I use one or two inseparable phrasal verbs.

☐
☐

I share my story with a partner.

☐
☐

Target Words

- to drop the subject (verb): to stop talking about a subject e.g. Maybe we should drop the subject before anyone gets immensely uncomfortable.
- boundaries (noun): a limit that is traced to show the end and beginning of something e.g. We have to respect Peter's boundaries.
- listen up (verb): to listen carefully
e.g. Hey Vanessa, listen up! I got Peter season tickets to see the Celtics!
- to calm down (verb): to relax; to reduce anxiety
e.g. Okay everyone, calm down.
- immensely (adverb): to a great extent
e.g. Peter is going to be immensely happy that we got tickets to Wednesday's game!
- public displays of affection (expression): physical affection shown in front of others
e.g. On Valentine's Day, however, there may be more public displays of affection than usual!

Learning Points

Inseparable Phrasal Verbs

Phrasal verbs are two-part verbs consisting of a verb followed by an adverb particle (these look like prepositions, but do not have the same function in phrasal verbs). In some cases, it is not possible to separate the verb and the particle. These are called inseparable phrasal verbs.

Phrasal Verbs	Meaning
listen up	listen carefully
taken aback	to surprise
root for	support or cheer for
come about	happen
turn into	become

Examples:

- Hey Vanessa, listen up!
- How did that come about?
- Okay, I'm totally taken aback!
- Let's root for V!
- This has turned into a great evening!

Learning Points

Modals for Suggestions, Necessity and Possibility

Modals are auxiliary verbs that function in different ways. Modals can offer suggestion, express necessity and show possibility.

You use modals to talk about degrees of certainty, possibility and necessity.

You use them to describe what is definite, probable, possible, or impossible from the speaker's point of view.

Modals are used with the base form of the main verb.

Should (modal) + go (main verb)

You can think of modals as "helping verbs". They add meaning to the main verb of a sentence.

Modals talking about suggestions are:

could, can and should.

Don't you think we should ask Peter about his date?

Maybe we should drop the subject before anyone gets immensely uncomfortable.

Modals talking about necessity are:

must, have to, had better and ought to.

We have to respect Peter's boundaries.

Modals talking about possibility are:

could, may and might.

We might want to relax and enjoy our evening together.

Note: 'You shouldn't have!' is a common phrase used when you receive a gift. It doesn't really mean you think the person shouldn't have bought you a gift. It means you are thankful.

Examples:

- Don't you think we should ask Peter about his date?
- Maybe we should drop the subject before anyone gets immensely uncomfortable.
- We have to respect Peter's boundaries.
- We might want to relax and enjoy our evening together.
- You shouldn't have!

Learning Points

